GUARD MAKES MERRY

Artillery and Signal Corps Give a Dance.

HOUSEWARMING IS OCCASION

Wives and Sweethearts Attend in Large Numbers, and Battalion Colors Are Draped with Stars and Stripes in Brilliant Decorations. Lieut. Shannon Makes Address.

Discipline in the First Battery, Field Artillery and the Signal Corps Company of the District of Columbia National Guard was not controlled by the organizations' officers last night.

The organizations had a "house warming" at their new armory, 473 Missouri avenue, and while the figures executed were rather of a round formation-in fact, round and round a glassy floor-the discipline was perfect. Sweethearts, wives, sisters, and even mothers of the men were the commanding officers for the night.

A musical programme preceded the dancing. Before it was half over the drill hall was filled to its capacity. All branches of the service were represented and the uniforms of the officers and men blended with the distinctive flags of the Battery and Signal Corps to make a brilliant scene.

It was all set off with the national colors on the walls and pillars and chandeliers rich in their decorative coloring.

During the dancing refreshments were served. Among the officers who joined with the men in the official social opening of the new home of the Battery, the Signal Corps, and the Medical Corps, were Lieut. Col. S. G. Smiley, the adjutant general of the District Militia; Capt. C. Fox, commander of the Battery; Second Lieut, L. H. Johnson, temporarily commanding the Signal Corps Company; Maj. Roy Herron, inspector general of the Local Guard; Lieut. Duvall, N. G. D. C., retired; Lieut. E. M. Nevils, of the Battery; former Lieut. C. Landis, of the Battery; Capt. Duncan L. Richmond, and Lleut, J. H. Shannon, of the Battery. The musical programme was as follows: Opening address, Lieut. J. H. Shannon, National Guard of the District of Columbia; cornet solo, August Orange; vocal solo, Ralph L. Curtis, fr.; song and impersonation, H. A. Gehrmann; song, Dixle Quartet; vocal solo, Gasper Orange, bugler of battery; vocal solo, W. A. Wilson; accompanists, Miss Marvel Tracey, Mr. Edgar Tracey, and Mrs. Lanham.

Credit for the success of the "house warming" was largely due to the efforts of this committee on arrangements: of this committee on arrangements:

EPIGRAMS OF THE STEEL KING.

"The reason the world made slow progress for thousands of years was that there were no printing presses, and each generation had to start anew. Now we have the record of all that man has done before, and every generation builds on a solid basis of what the previous ones have done."

"No one can say, short of perfection, what the human race shall attain to."

"All is well, because all grows better."

"Read; read the books and then bow your heads, but resolve to accept whatever reason shows you to be true."

"When I made up my mind to make a fortune I made up my mind to make it easy for other men to obtain an education through books."

"I owe everything I have got to my access to books."

"Books are the most perfect instruments of philanthropy that exist. They don't do anything for nothing. If you want to get a thing here you've got to work for it.

"I don't think you can do much for the 'submerged tenth." The state should take charge of them-isolate them. I wish to help those who help themselves."

"The best society in the world is the library."

"The day is not far distant when the negro race will take its place in this country with any other race. Then the race problem will be no more forever.'

For some time past instructing physicians have been visiting various fire houses, but it was not deemed expedient to attempt the police work in the same way, and so one-half of the reserve squads were ordered to report to head-

Dr. Reichelderfer addressed himself primarily to preliminary work, and with the aid of highly colored charts, gave a short lecture on anatomy, with special reference to the circulatory system. He also dealt upon bacteriology and the importance of preventing the infection of wounds. "I am not attempting to tell you how to do the work of a physician or surgeon," he said, "but only instructing you as to what is best to do until the arrival of a medical man."

There will be ten lectures in the course, which will embrace a considerable field of information. Thursday evening. Dr. Reeves will deliver the second lecture to the same detail, and the first lecture will be repeated next Monday for the benefit of another detail of men.

not always prove a help in the diagnosis for phthisis is an opinion expressed by Dr. H. H. Hazen in an address before the monthly meeting of the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, held at the headquarters building, 923 H street last night. "As yet we know little about the inoculation of tuberculin, and it is advisable to go slow and make use of probable help when all other means have failed," said Dr. Hazen. Dr. Schroeder and Dr. Gwynne took part in the informal discussion which followed the paper. At the business session, the association reaffirmed its advocacy of the pasteurization of milk as a preventive of disease.

He cited a list of private institutions in the District receiving appropriations annually from Congress, Character of University.

Representative Tirrell, of Massachusetts, gave some interesting historical testimony bearing on the public character of the university. He recalled that in 1839 Daniel Webster gave his father, Norton Q. Tirrell, a free scholarship in the old Columbian Medical School, a privilege of appointment then enjoyed by Senators. The debate having become somewhat wearisome, Representative Sulzer, of New York, made a hit by urging the House to stop talking about the Morrill act and to pass the resolution of investigation.

Representative Scott, of Kansas, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, said that all the information sought to be obtained from the Attorney General was already available in the form of printed hearings before the Agricultural Committee. The officers of the university, he said, were willing to have an investigation made. They did not deny that the university was pressed financially.

"I want to disabuse the mind of the House that something new has been uncovered here," he said. Representative Olcott, of New York, said that he wanted the resolution to pass, as a friend of the university. This brought the debate to a close, and the resolution was adopted without op-
